Mayor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, America's counties provide a variety of essential services. Many of these services work to protect our communities.

WHEREAS, counties protect residents from natural disasters, terrorist attacks, crime and drug abuse. Counties are the first to respond to emergency situations and are primarily responsible for planning for disaster preparedness. Counties also work to protect families, children and youth.

WHEREAS, there are 3,066 counties in the United States, collectively responsible for the well being of more than 250 million residents.

WHEREAS, counties provide services that make America's community's stronger, safer places to live and raise families. Counties police our streets, fight fires, save lives in hospitals, keep families healthy, repair bridges, help troubled youth, train laid-off workers and perform countless other jobs.

WHEREAS, counties have a long history of providing critical services. County governments are the citizen's local government voice, providing solutions that bring communities together.

WHEREAS, in recognition of the leadership, innovation and valuable service provided by our nation's counties:

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the power vested in me as Mayor of Monroe County, Florida, I do hereby proclaim April 23-29, 2006 as

National County Government Week

WITNESS my hand and seal of the County of Monroe, Florida, this 19th day of April, 2006.

Charles "Sonny" McCoy, Mayor
